

OVERVIEW

BYOD

Benefits of a BYOD Instructional Environment

- Gives students greater control of their learning through access to a variety of software resources and flexibility of time.
- Extends the learning day since students take their devices home.
- Increases skill attainment relevant to workforce and higher education requirements.
- Promotes personalized learning experiences.
- Encourages students' independent learning
- Minimizes the amount of training required during instructional time because students are more familiar with their personal devices.
- Allows schools to achieve a 1:1 student-to-computer ratio with lower cost.
- Converts any classroom into a technology lab due to lessened space and device constraints.
- Increases student engagement through use of technology.