

CLARK COUNTY SCHOOL DISTRICT NEWS RELEASE

*For Immediate Release
Penny Ramos-Bennett, (702) 799-5304*

January 6, 2009

C.C. Ronnow Elementary writers take the challenge Local military supports writing workshop

LAS VEGAS – C.C. Ronnow Elementary School is celebrating their first Writers of Outstanding Talent camp. The camp takes place through Friday, January 9 from 12:45 p.m. to 3:30 p.m. Ronnow Elementary School is located at 1100 Lena Street, Las Vegas.

As an exciting bonus, four military branches will support the “WOOT” camp with roll call activities, morning reveille and cadence competitions.

Assistant Principal Bernie Chamberlain said, “We expect that this event will tie together all the past years efforts to improve our schools’ writing scores. We hope that these activities will motivate our students to reach new levels in their writing scores.”

This unique approach to the fifth grade state writing proficiency exam was the idea of a Ronnow ES teacher who wanted to develop and reinforce writing skills in students while motivating them with fun daily activities. Students will receive a graduation certificate upon the completion of the five day workshop.

For more information about the Clark County School District, visit www.ccsd.net.

###

