Greetings, District G families!

Reading is a very valuable gift that we can give to our children. As we look forward spring and summer, I always become interested in ways to create opportunities to build a love of reading in the lives of the young people in our care, both as parents and as a community.

Reading together is one of the "keepers" I would do again if I had the opportunity to start all over again as a parent.

With two children away to college, and two still home, we honor the tradition to read together before we go to bed. Reading together has created treasured memories and has strengthened our children and our family in many ways.

As you create opportunities in your home and as ideas arise by which we might strengthen literacy in our schools, please e-mail me at eecranor@interact.ccsd.net.

This year in our parent and community "PAC" meetings we have shared ideas for helping children love reading. I hope this is often a topic of conversation among families and friends. I am thankful for teachers and other parents who help me discover books, book series, and habits to strengthen my children's love of reading as they grow.

Thank you for making your family a part of our Clark County School District community and for all you do for your own children and all our students here.

Sincerely,

Erin
